JAPAN'S PLANS IN COREA BALKED BY THE QUEEN'S FACTION.

Serious Diplomatic Question as to Whether Japan Will Withdraw

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1 .- The steamer China from Tokio July 20 brings the followbe allowed full play, as the King has sud denly announced his intention of governing own fancy. The Corean King's disposition men might have accomplished genuine reforms in Corea.

The Japanese government maintained its severe measures toward political opponents, hoping that popular animosity would eventually subside. The unpopularity of the government still continues, however, and the government may be forced to convene the Diet early against its will. Never before has the government been in such need of parliamentary support. Important finan-cial measures growing out of the war must be promptly executed, and for these the sanction of the Legislature is indispensable If the radicals prove more intractable. From England and Germany two battleships of eight thou sand tons each, two cruisers of five thousand tons and two smaller vessels of three thou sand tons will be ordered. One hundred and fifty naval students will be sent to Europe for scientific training. The Chinese Emperor has so far yielded to foreign pressure as to threaten ex-Viceroy Sze Choan with depri-vation of rank and confiscation of his entire possession in case anti-missionary riots are Cholera is spreading in Corea, especially in regions where battles were fought last year. The Japanese in Formosa are con-centrating their forces on positions held by the Chinese insurgents on the west coast, Governor-general Kabayama's intention is to defer the final onset until assured of complete success at a single blow. Li Hung Chang is still deprived of official station, but no successor to the position of Viceroy has been appointed.

Question Whether Japan Will Give Up Her Footing on the Continent. WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.-The diplomatic corps in Washington is watching with especial interest at present the settlement of thur by the Japanese in view of the demand which Russia, France and Germany are reported to have made upon the Japanese to evacuate the entire Liao Tung peninsula without reference to China's fulfillment of her part of the Shimonoseki treaty obligations. > CHICAGO, Aug. 1 .- No new developments were made in the Holmes case to-day and the police admit that they are about at the end of their rope, without a particle of tangible evidence on which Holmes can be charged with murder, A number of small clews were worked on during the day, but none of them developed anything. Dozens of prominent clews have been carefully investigated; witness after witness, who was confidently expected to "tell all," has been examined without result, and at last detectives are forced to admit their efforts have been unavailing so far as real proof of guilt is concerned. This was admitted by Inspector Fitzpatrick to-day.

Lawyer Capps left the city to-night for Little Rock, where he will interview the convict Allen and then confer with the Governor as to advisability of a pardon for the man, if he finds that Allen has any real knowledge of the doings of Holmes. The officers at Englewood continued the attempt to trace the missing Williams girls to-day. Of Annie, but little is known and Minnie has been traced to June, 1893 Letters were found showing that she was in the confidence of Holmes and was supposed by people living at a distance to be a man and a partner of Holmes. In connection with Capps's visit to Allen, Inspector Fitzpatrick said that the attorney had no instructions to try to get Allen released from the penitentiary, but that he was told to simply try and get what information he could from this man without making any definite promise of reward. Four witnesses were examined by Inspector Fitzpatrick this evening. The most mportant of them was a man named Erickson, who is at the present time em-ployed as a drug clerk on the West Side. He told the officials that he was at one time employed in the "castle" drug store. He knew Holmes well, and said that he always considered him very peculiar.

"Why?" asked Inspector Fitzpatrick.
"Well," replied Erickson, "he always wanted so much chloroform during the months, and I sometimes sold this order to him nine or ten times a week, and each time it was in large quantities. I asked him what he used it for on several occa-sions, but he gave me very unsatisfactory answers. At last I refused to let him have any more until he told me, as I pretended that I was afraid that he was not using it for any proper purpose. He then told me that he was making some experiments, and the following day showed me a bottle con-taining a yellow fluid. He had another bottle with a white liquid in it, and when he mixed the two a heavy vapor arose, to which he set fire. He also told me that the gas was poisonous. Some time after, when he got more chloroform, I asked him if his experiments were nearly completed and then he said he was not making any

THE WALKER MYSTERY. Young Englishman Who May Have

Fallen a Victim to Holmes. GREENSBURG, Ind., Aug. 1.-It has just been learned that Harry Walker, who was mysteriously missing about two years ago, had dealings with Holmes, the murderer, and it is firmly believed that if the facts were known he was a victim of America's bottom of the slide. The accident occurred "Jack the Ripper." Walker was about twenty-four years old and an experienced jeweler and optician. He was of English nationality and had not been long from England when he came to this city and obtained a position with C. D. Tillson, the leading jeweler of the city. Mr. Tillson recognized in his clerk a valuable workman and advised him to remain here, as the said Holmes was probably not honest and was a confidence man endeavoring to lure the young man to Chicago to obtain his money and small estate which was left him by his father.

Walker went to work and said nothing about the matter. Almost three weeks later, Holmes came to this city and inquired to Walker, but registered at the De Arm Hotel in the name of Manford R. Petzle, Chicago, Ill. He made promising inducements for Walker to go to Chicago, and told Walker that if he would take out a life insurance payable to him he would pay all dues and leave a certain percentage for his relatives. Walker was well pleased with the idea, but Mr. Tillson would not permit him to leave, as he was sure it was som

No word was left with any of his friends, and the store was found locke and the key was gone. A stranger had been seen with Walker the day before he was missing. STRIKE FOR IRELAND ANCIENT ORDER OF HIBERNIANS COMES OUT FOR REVOLUTION.

Significant Stand Taken by the Representatives of 500,000 Members at New York Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.- The national offiand passed resolutions which are thought to be deeply significant of the future policy of the organization in the United States warding the cause of Irish independence. The resolutions are said by well-informed Irishmen to mean that the A. Dead Desperado Dick Willett Identifled as the Notorious Outlaw.

HENNESSEY, Oklahoma, Aug. 1 .- Sheriff Burchett states that the man who was killed at Sheridan last week and who was identified as Dick Willett, was no other than Bill Doolin, and that he lived for four months east of Kingfisher under the name of Willett, without his identity being dis-closed. The man who was wounded in the hip and claiming to be a brother of the dead man, looks very much like him and the resemblance caused the officers to think he was Doolin. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. BLOOMINGDALE, Ind., Aug. 1.-The Journal correspondent has just spent two days on the scene of the Clara Shanks murder at Wolf creek falls, has interviewed the principals and leaders of the two factions, and has obtained an insight into the causes which led to the special court of inquiry last Tuesday, with its

First, the court of inquiry, which lasted all day, and which had before it all the principals of the Shanks and Keller families, failed in every sense to bring out any self-convicting evidence, as was told in yesterday's Journal. Its one result, apthis strange murder of Clara Shanks, which in most ways rivals anything of the two counties, still deeper and deeper into however, that I am still compos mentis. Although in view of the absurd reports mystery. Many had expressed themselves that have gone out about me it might of the belief that if the Keller women ever they would tell a story that would give a clew to the criminal. On the contrary, their estimony was so straightforward that there was but one result in the public mind, and that was to thicken the plot. While this is the case, there is an unabating cry for justice throughout all the Mill creek valley. And one very startling development brought out by this public hearing was the statement of the Kellers that in their opinion Clara Shanks was murdered, but by whom they did not know. In an interview with the Journal correspondent, to-day, this statement was reiterated. Daniel Keller, his wife, Miss Emma Cox, Margaret Keller and W. A. Cox, father of Mrs. Keller and Miss Cox, are all staying at the home of George Keller, two miles northwest of the Shanks home. They have been there ever since the tragedy, and have never left the neighporhood, as reputed in some papers. They talk freely of the tragedy, of the suspi-cion that has rested upon them, and of their testimony before the court of inquiry.

"I was the first one to see Clara Shanks leave her home that Saturday," said Mrs. Daniel Keller, "and I at once called the attention of my sister and husband to it, as it seemed a little unusual to see her going down the lane bareheaded and barefooted. We were in the summer kitchen at the time, and we watched her going from a crack in the weather-boarding. My husband never left the house."
"If you think Clara Shanks was murdered do you know any evidence?" was asked.

"We have our suspicions, and they rest upon the Shanks family—especially upon young Don Shanks, from the number of times which he was seen to cross to the Wolf creek thicket that afternoon. More than this, we recall the indifferent actions of the Shanks family on that night, and even the next morning. Not a single neighbor was called in to help hunt Clara, they thought she was in distress, an went to bed as usual."

The Shanks support, which is led by Geo. H. Thomas, a local attorney, is even stronger in its belief that Clara met her fate at the hands of those who charged her with proper conduct. They held that, while confession was brought out in the inquiry, yet they think the testin strengthened their cause. Mr. Tho "The testimony of Daniel Kelier was so rambling that you could get neither head nor tall to it. He could not explain to the court satisfactorily where he was on Sat-urday, July 6, between the hours of 12 and 2. There were two hours of that day which he cannot account for himself. He did not know when he ate dinner, nor on what side know when he ate dinner, nor on what side of the table he sat, nor whether he saw Clara Shanks going down the road before or after dinner. We have a witness who will testify going by the Keller home that day at noon and seeing the two women at dinner, with Daniel not there. It is our opinion, and we hope to prove it, that Dan Keller was absent from his home between the hours of 12 and 2. I have never believed that Clara Shanks was murdered in the Keller home, as some thought, but I think it was done in the Wolf creek thicket."

What will be the next step taken? asked the reporter.
"It will be a legal arrest on evidence which we are slowly collecting. I cannot say how many will be arrested, nor when, but it will surely come. Possibly it will be given the grand jury and let the regular process take its course.

Then you think there is evidence?" "I do; and just yesterday a purse of six was made up to aid the investigation of the blood. Sheriff Moore is now on his way to Indianapolis to have the blood found on the logs in Wolf creek hollow analyzed. He also has chips from the floor of Dan Keller's house, taken from his sitting room, which we think have blood on them. The Sheriff has a pair of Keller's pants which have spots on them resembling blood. Above all, we discovered in the bottom of the stove in Keller's house a quantity of ashes t was made from burnt clothes of some kind.
The fibers of the cloth are very plain in the ashes. It looks like it has been old clothing. and we have a witness who will testify t assing the Keller home on Sunday. I the day Clara Shanks's body was fou and of smelling woolen goods burning. Al these things are going to come up before

These are the two opinions as they exist there to-day. Both are entitled to consideration, because neither has been proven by court of justice as being in the wrong. Both factions say the end is not yet, and that the case cannot stop where it is. Both join the one unanimous cry from the public for justice, and an exposition of the man or woman who murdered the beautiful seventeen-year-old daughter of Frederick

In this extremity for a solution of the mystery a few of the best minds have reverted to the old suicide theory as the only solution. But they must do so against the unanimous verdict of seven competent physicians, who said: "We believe Clara Shanks met her death by violence un-known." John Teegarden, one of the best known men in southern Fountain county, expressed himself thus to the Journal corexpressed himself thus to the Journal cor-respondent: "I believe there is more evi-dence, and, in fact, the only evidence, shows that Clara Shanks met her death by drown. ing in Wolf creek falls, but the people of the neighborhood will never believe it."
The realistic dream of Mrs. Shanks, it thich she saw Clara struggling in the por all night, is being used as capital agains he Shanks family, it being claimed that hey located their daughter too easily. Mrs. Shanks has become prostrated under the excitement and strain attending these three
